Scouting At Camp Covered Bridge

This is one of many sections that contain information, photos, newspaper articles, internet items, etc. of the St. Matthews area and especially of Waggener High School. Many of the items came from Al Ring's personal collections but many people have helped and I have tried to give credit where I can.

The purpose of this "collection" was to create the history of Waggener and the students and teachers who were there during my time. Being retired I now have time to do many of the things I have always wanted, this project is just one of them. The collection is continuing today, so if you should have old or new information on the St. Matthews area from 1950 to 1962 or Waggener High, please contact Al Ring.

All graphics have been improved to make the resolution as good as possible, but the reader should remember that many came from copies of old newspaper articles and photos. Credit to the source of the photos, etc. is provided whenever it was available. We realize that many items are not identified and regret that we weren't able to provide this information. As far as the newspaper articles that are not identified, 99% of them would have to be from one of three possible sources. The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times or one of the Voice publications. Books that we have used for some information include, Randy, Cactus, Uncle, Ed and the Golden age of Louisville Television, Waggener High School Alumni Directory 1996, Waggener Traditional High School Alumni Directory 2007, Memories of Fontaine Ferry Park, St. Matthews The Crossroads of Beargrass by Samuel W. Thomas, St. Matthews, 25 Years a City Two Centuries a Community, St. Matthews 1960-1995, Waggener Lair's 1958 to 1962, The Holy Warrior, Muhammad Ali, Louisville's Own (An Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Louisville Area Recorded Pop Music From 1953 to 1983).

movable in winter. Dedication is planned for Sunday. The new eating place is named the "William E. Ehlig Mess Hall" in honor of the council president who died last spring. Its central feature is the huge chimney, with twin fireplaces inside and out. Workers on the scaffolding said the limestone in it weighs 100 tons. Outside wall of the hall is walnut half-logs "put there to stay forever."

Boy Scouts

Although Broadway no longer has a Boy Scout troop, scouting was an active group sponsored by the church for more than fifty years. The program was described in an earlier publication by this statment: "Scouting is another way Broadway served her neighbors, whether on East Broadway or Brownsboro Road."

The more recent troop (Troop 216) chartered in 1954, continued to serve the neighborhood by teaching the ideals and skills that are an integral part of scouting well into the 1970s. The adult leaders who served as scoutmasters during this period included

Bryan McCoy, Russell Shifley, Stanley Mour, Robert Shell, and Donald Clark.

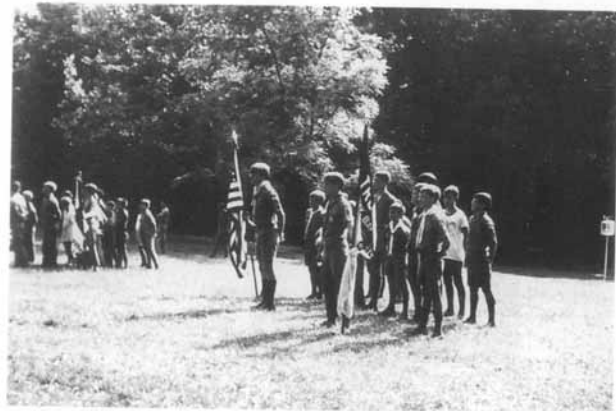

A favorite activity of the troop was hiking. Some of these activities covered historical areas and varied in length from nine to fifteen long miles. The Massacre Trail at Middletown, the Wah-la-ha Trail at Frankfort, the Bluegrass Trail at Lexington, the Dry Canteen and Dug Road Trails at the Perryville battlefield site and many others will live in the memories of all the boys who were participants.

Weekend Camporees, usually held in the spring and fall, offered an opportunity for the troop to compete in camping and woodcraft skills against other units in the Seneca district. Week-long summer camping at the Covered Bridge Reservation gave those who attended a special opportunity to win merit badges in aquatics, camping, cooking, and handicrafts. There were winter troop outings in the Adirondack shelters at Covered Bridge that sharpened the skills needed to survive under adverse conditions.

The annual Scout-O-Rama exhibition gave the troop members an opportunity to demonstrate originality and teamwork through such diverse activities as building and firing model rockets and planning and construction pioneer bridges.

Boy Scout Troop 216 became inactive in 1978 when units were organized in other churches in the area.

Snow or cold does not stop Troop 75, of the Jefferson-town Presbyterian Church, from its annual January camp-out at the Covered Bridge Reservation. This year it was down to 10 degrees, but as usual the Scouts were prepared.

Instead of the normal method of cooking by Patrols, meals were prepared by adults headed by ex-Navy cook Joe Trittle, assisted by Mr. Payne, Mr. Mathes, Mr. Svarra and Mr. Melborn. No cases of indigestion were reported.

The campout activities included scoutercraft, hiking and games. Scouts attending were Doug Mathes, Keith Bailey, Ray Jones, Tim and Dave Ingram as leaders. St. M mayor to speak at scout camp

"I have enjoyed giving my support on numerous occasions to the Boy Scout movement in the St. Matthews area, and I count many of my friends among the men who direct these Cubs, Scouts, and Explorers. It is a real privilege to again be associated with them."

So, said St. Matthews Mayor Bernard F. Bowling this week as he accepted the invitation to be the keynote speaker and honorary chairman of Seneca Scout District's annual Fall Camporee to be held at Covered Bridge Reservation, October 21-23, in Oldham County.

Seneca District is one of nine Scout districts comprising the Old Kentucky Home Council. The district is responsible for the welfare of 3,000 Cubs, Explorers, and Boy Scouts.

It comprises St. Matthews and Crescent Hill east to the Jefferson County-Oldham County line.

Mayor Bowling points with pride to his two sons, Mike, 14, and Patrick, 13, who are Scouts in Troop 325 at Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

"Both of the boys take their Scouting pretty seriously. Mike is a Life Scout and is up for his Eagle examination, and Patrick is a First Class Scout," Bowling notes with pride.

Richard J. Huether, 3439 Newburg Road, Chairman for the Camporee, says that he and his committee to date have received reservations covering 600 Scouts from 18 different Scout troops in the Seneca District area.
