HISTORY OF REAL PHOTO POSTCARDS 1888 AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY IS BORN

George Eastman introduced a camera that allowed anyone to take 100 photographs. The camera was then mailed to Rochester, New York where the photographs were printed and the camera reloaded and returned to the photographer. This marked the beginning of amateur photography.

1902 PHOTOGRAPHIC POSTCARD PRINTING PAPER INTRODUCED

The Eastman Kodak Company introduced the first postcard photographic paper, named gaslight paper. The paper's emulsion was very fast and allowed the amateur photographer to print at night using artificial light or exposure to a gas jet. The introduction of this type of paper, still used for contact sheets, produced a boom in the making of real photo postcards. Kodak trademarks for gaslight papers were Velox and Azo. Other companies soon followed Eastman: the Canadian Kodak Company manufactured Oko paper and Ansco manufactured the Cyko and Noko papers.

1903 POSTCARD CAMERA INTRODUCED

The next development in the history of the real photo postcard occurred in 1903 with the introduction of the Eastman Kodak Folding Pocket Kodak No. 3A. The camera took postcard size (3/12" x 5 1/2") negatives. Two other early manufacturers of postcard cameras were Seneca and the Chicago Ferrotypes Company.

1906 REAL PHOTO POSTCARD PRINTING SERVICES INTRODUCED

In this year Eastman Kodak began actively promoting the real photo postcard business by offering the service of printing the postcards for the photographer.

1907 ESTABLISHMENT OF REAL PHOTO POSTCARD BUSINESSES

In this year the "undivided back" postcard was replaced by the "divided back" format. The new format added a space for the message on the left back of the postcard, thus allowing the full front to be used for the image. This change marked the beginning of many real photo postcard businesses. These businesses employed photographers to take portraits in studios, at and popular locations such as amusement parks. These photographers were also hired to produce postcards of a town for promotional purposes and to also record local events, including disasters such as floods or train wrecks.

Bisbee

Sometime in the 1990s I bought a collection of Bisbee postcards through the mail. It appears the bulk of them were from members of the Gillaspy family who lived in Lowell and Douglas Arizona during the 1907 to 1920's time period.

Death Certificate: Mrs. Emma D. Gillaspy, died at Cochise County Hospital, April 19, 1923, born 3/18/1867, age 56, born in Missouri, parents George Borlen(?), Anna Dillard, information from Grover C. Gillaspy, from Douglas.

Death Certificate: George N. M. W.(?) Gillaspy, died at Cochise County Hospital, 12/14/1923, single, age 27, shoe cutter, birthplace Missouri, parents Edwin E & Emma Dillard Gillaspy, information from Grover C. Gillaspy, from Douglas.

Marriage: Grover C. Gillaspy married Anna Cobb in 1937 from Douglas records.

Marriage: Carleton H. Gillaspy married Georgia Redwine in 1939 from Douglas records.

Family Search: Found a Grover Cleveland Gillaspy born June 17, 1897 Hannibal, Missouri, died October 6, 1959

Social Security: Carleton Gillaspy, September 9, 1914, died January 6, 1998 in zip code 85713, South Tucson, Arizona, SS 526-09-9062
